Together around opera

The Palau de les Arts Reina Sofia in Valencia raises and opens its stage curtain again to the whole world through the prodigy of technology. Following last year's successful transmission of Die Walküre, today we repeat this beautiful experience with the opera Carmen. Once again, it is my pleasure to share this exceptional occasion with tens of thousands of music lovers in different parts of the continent and to know that they can feel part of this ambitious artistic project developed here in Valencia in the new, vanguard and already emblematic opera house designed by the Valencian architect Santiago Calatrava.
